THE ROAD OF LIFE; Or, The Irish Post Boy.

O, youth, happy youth! what a blessing! in thy freshness of dawn and of dew, When hope the young heart is caressing, And our griefs are but light and but few. But in life, as it swiftly flies o'er us, Some musing for sadness we find :-

In youth we've our troubles before us-In age we leave pleasure behind. Age-Trouble's the post boy that drives us

Up hill till we get to the top, While joy's an old servant behind us We call on, forever, to stop. O, put on the drag, joy, my jewel,

As long as the sunset still glows-Before it is dark 't would be cruel To haste to the hill-foot's repose. But there stands an Inn we must stop at,

An extinguisher swings for the sign; That house is but cold and but narrow-But the prospect beyond it-divine! And there, whence there's never returning, When we travel-as travel we must-May the gates be all free for our journey ! And the tears of our friends lay the dust.

THE katydid iz a kind of green grasshopper about two inches in length, and az phull ov music az a hand-saw that is being filed. During the month ov August they are in the hight ov their glory, and sitting on the limbs ov the trees fill heaven and earth with their melody; they sing from sunset until half past 4 o'clock in the morning and then hang up their phiddles. Their song is not oral but instrumental, and iz did by rubbing their wings together. The song that they sing is slitely monotonous, after hearing 500 ov them say for six hours konsekatiff "katydid," you pheel inclined to ask them very politely to change the tune and sentiment. I would not banish one single song from this world: i would rather hav everything set to musik. Let the owl bellow the bull-frog bawl and the parrot skream but i would simply suggest that if the katydid would be kind enuff to variagate-say once a week-with "Jordon iza hard road to travel, i beleav," or "The Star-Spangle Banner," they would do me a lasting favor. I only make this suggestion out ov the goodness ov mi heart and hope the katydid won't get mad about it and quit singing altogether .- [Josh Billings.

A FATHER who was anxious for early performance of a certain piece of work, GUAYMAS, LA PAZ, MAZATLAN while impatiently consulting his watch, remarked in the presence of his little twoyear old: "Good God, 10 o'clock and nothing done yet!" A few days afterward the minister dined at the house. As usual, his blessing was long and solemnly impressive. The family bowed heads in respectful reverence, but the little twoyear old with a two-year old's ravenous appetite, stood behind the door anxiously watching the smoking repast. When at last "Amen" announced the conclusion of the devotional exercises, the irreverent youngster broke out, "Dood Dod, 10 o'clock and nossin done yet!" And yet, strange to say, that child was not spanked and put to bed.

IF you want to see how beautiful your wife looks when she's angry, suggest that the young lady who lives across the street, and who always sits at the window with her forefinger pressed to her temple and a pensive smile on her face while you're smoking your evening cigar, is the handsomest woman you ever saw. Take care that your head isn't out of the window when you make the remark. This was the situation with Mr. Spellbacker, the other Evening. The window came down so rapidly that he hadn't time to get all his head in, and he doesn't look well half
